Thank you for your letter of May 10, 1959, concerning the information you received from Social Security. We are glad to be able to assist you in straightening out the credits and trust that at least by the time you are in Washington in July we may be able to give you a final report that all credits have been recorded by Social Security.

Since I plan to be in town the first week in July, I trust that you will call me. My office phone extension, which you probably no longer have, is [] and my home phone number, where I can be reached at practically any hour, is []
